

HITLER ACCEPTS ROOSEVELT PLEA TREATY BLAMED FOR GERMAN WOE

Germany's Chancellor Willing to Proceed Toward Disarmament Following MacDonald Plan; Willing to Accept United States as Peace Guarantor, Address Declares

NEW DEMAND MADE FOR ARMS EQUALITY

Hitler Says This is Not Necessary, However, by Increasing Armies But by Others Cutting; Roosevelt Hears Plaudits

BERLIN, May 17.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler this afternoon announced Germany's acceptance of President Roosevelt's disarmament proposals in a speech to the Reichstag, marked by its conciliatory tone.

He agreed to proceed toward disarmament along the lines suggested at Geneva by Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, whose disarmament proposals were recommended to the world yesterday by the American president.

He further expressed willingness to accept the United States as guarantor of world peace under any new security arrangement.

While demanding complete equality for Germany with the other nations of Europe, Chancellor Hitler insisted this need not be achieved by increasing her armaments.

"She is ready to dissolve her entire army and destroy her arms," he said, "if the other nations will do likewise."

BLAMES TREATY

Hitler ascribed all of Germany's troubles and the woes of the world at large to the treaty of Versailles, which he said created new wounds instead of healing up the old ones.

He lashed out at the security demands of France and the little entente powers.

"France, Poland and Czechoslovakia have thousands of fighting planes, tanks and poison gases," he said.

"Does not Germany have more right to demand security than her highly armed interlarded neighbors?"

Germany, Chancellor Hitler said, has no aggressive aims.

"She is ready to join in any new non-aggression pacts and to participate in a joint movement recognizing the United States as the guarantor of peace," he said.

"Germany is thinking only of security. She will never ratify an agreement eternalizing her demoralization."

Hitler called upon the allies to fulfill their pledges under the Versailles treaty, declaring that Germany had disarmed "beyond reason" and made good her reparations obligations "to the point of suicide."

SEEK FIVE YEARS

"Germany," the chancellor said, "is willing to agree to a five year transitory period to reform her army in accordance with the MacDonald plan, if she is given equality when those five years have passed."

"She is ready to consent to cooperate, as reconstruction without disarmament is impossible."

"Germany's one wish is for peace and independence."

Hitler finished his address at 4:02 p. m. (11:02 a. m. E. D. T.) with a fervent plea for world cooperation.

"May the nations," he said, "find a way to real understanding on the basis of equal rights."

The Reichstag immediately passed a resolution endorsing the chancellor's announced foreign policies in full and then joined in signing "Deutschland Ueber Alles."

By International News Service

President Roosevelt's appeal yesterday for disarmament met with almost universal approval in world capitals, the only discordant note coming from Japan.

Germany welcomed the president's initiative, believing it will inspire the Geneva disarmament conference to genuine efforts in behalf of arms limitation.

France professed to see in Roosevelt's appeal a definite warning to Hitlerite Germany that she must not rearm and saw no criticism at all of the French military establishment.

Great Britain was delighted at Roosevelt's acceptance of the disarmament plan of Premier MacDonald and King George himself will express his approval in a message to the American president.

Italy, it is unofficially stated, will approve Roosevelt's proposals in toto.

Japanese military circles, however, objected to approval of the MacDonald disarmament plan, which they oppose, and also to the president's plea for an agreement against invasion, citing "abnormal conditions" in China.

House Passes Measure Backed By State Association, 94 To 24.

WHITE MUST SIGN

Pickens' Term To Run Until Jan. 1, 1937.

Ferd M. Pickens, N. Court-st. will be Pickaway-co's clerk of courts until Jan. 1, 1937, provided Governor George White puts his signature on a bill passed by the House of Representatives Tuesday. The measure had already been approved in the senate.

The bill makes the terms of clerks four years and extends terms of incumbents two years.

The vote was 94 to 24 with some opposition being voiced against the provision extending terms of incumbents.

The term of Mr. Pickens would have come to an end on Jan. 1, 1935 at the conclusion of his second term.

The bill as approved by the senate and house is similar to that extending terms of county recorders to four years passed before adjournment. That measure assures Mary G. Morris, incumbent, her office until Jan. 1, 1937.

Mr. Pickens is president of the Ohio Clerks' association.

LEAGUE URGES CITY TO BUILD POWER PLANT

Figures Shown at C. C. Meeting Comparing Rates of Plants

CROWD IS PRESENT

Utilities to Have Program on June 13

One of the largest crowds to attend a Chamber of Commerce meeting in recent months heard the program of the Circleville Citizens' league Tuesday evening.

The Citizens' league is advocating municipal ownership of utilities and had figures and charts prepared for discussion.

After an excellent dinner the meeting was turned over by President Durward Dowden to Harry W. Heffner, secretary of the League, who explained its purposes. He expressed appreciation of council passing a resolution to hire a competent, unbiased engineer to survey the city for possibilities of municipal plants and said that he hoped an appropriation would be made at an early date to employ such a person.

CHARTS SHOWN

Mr. Heffner introduced Vattier Courtright, a member of the League's committee on the light utility. Courtright made his talk with the aid of a system of charts on which were printed comparative figures taken from towns where the light and power plants are owned and operated by the city. He showed in his charts figures comparing light rates of cities other than Circleville served by the Southern Ohio Electric Co. His figures showed that Circleville is paying a higher rate than the other cities.

After Mr. Courtright concluded his part of the program a more or less round-table discussion followed with Ward Robinson showing figures obtained from towns with various water companies municipally owned; Paul E. Adkins, city solicitor, explaining the necessary legal steps before municipal ownership; John C. Goeller, president of council, reading figures he has received comparing rates here and in other cities of similar size. Alfred Lee, Northridge-rd, told of his experience in living in a city with municipal ownership of its light plant and how much lower his rates were.

UTILITY PROGRAM

After numerous questions and answers were made the meeting closed.

President Dowden announced that at the June meeting the various utilities will have charge of the program with C. T. Gilmore, of the electric company, as chairman. Other members of the committee include Earl W. Lutz, of the Citizen's Telephone Co., Harry Denman of the Ohio Water Service Co., and George Foerst of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

This meeting will be held on June 13.

ROOSEVELT'S WORKS PLAN READY TODAY

Legislation for Gigantic Program Asked of Congress in Message

CITIES LIQUOR TAX

Wide Re-Employment Expected by President

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—President Roosevelt today asked Congress for legislation which will permit the launching of a $3,000,000,000 public works program and at the same time will allow industry under government supervision to enter into agreement designed to prevent unfair competition and disastrous overproduction.

The president reported in a separate message that at least $220,000,000 of additional revenue would be needed to undertake the public works program.

CITIES EARLY REPEAL

He did not make specific recommendation as to how this money should be raised leaving it to discussion of Congress but he said that provision should be made for the reduction or elimination of such additional taxes as business improves or whenever repeal of the 18th amendment permits a restoration of prohibition revenue laws.

In asking that industry be empowered to organize within itself the president contemplates modification of the anti-trust laws. He made clear, however, they should be reclaimed basically and that the government supervision of private combinations be vigorously maintained.

THROUGH ENACTMENT OF THE Public Works-Industry partnership bill the President told Congress he hoped to obtain wide re-employment, to shorten the working week, to pay a decent wage for the shorter week and to prevent unfair competition and disastrous over-production.

Hi Golfers To Play In C. B. L.

Hopeful of making a good showing the Circleville high school golf team was preparing today to take part in the Central Buckeye league meet over the Arlington course Thursday afternoon.

Coach Pete Herberholz announced Wednesday that Johnny Mader will play the number one position, Bob Fricke, Lee Cook and Charles Glitt completing the first four with John Jenkins the fifth player to make the trip.

All these boys are, or have been caddies at the Pickaway Country club, and have been scoring in the low 80s even this early in the season.

Frank Casey, Pickaway club professional, has been giving the students points from time to time and is confident the team has a good chance to make a showing in the tournament.

Grandview, Bexley and Delaware all have good teams with Marysville and Westerville also to participate.

Although the track meet between Chillicothe's harriers and the local Tiger crew was postponed Tuesday afternoon they will meet Monday afternoon.

Coach Pete Herberholz Wednesday said that the local boys are anxious to meet the South Central District champions and if possible make up somewhat for the two point defeat of last year when the meet was decided in the last event. About 15 men will make the trip to Chillicothe, according to Coach Herberholz.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

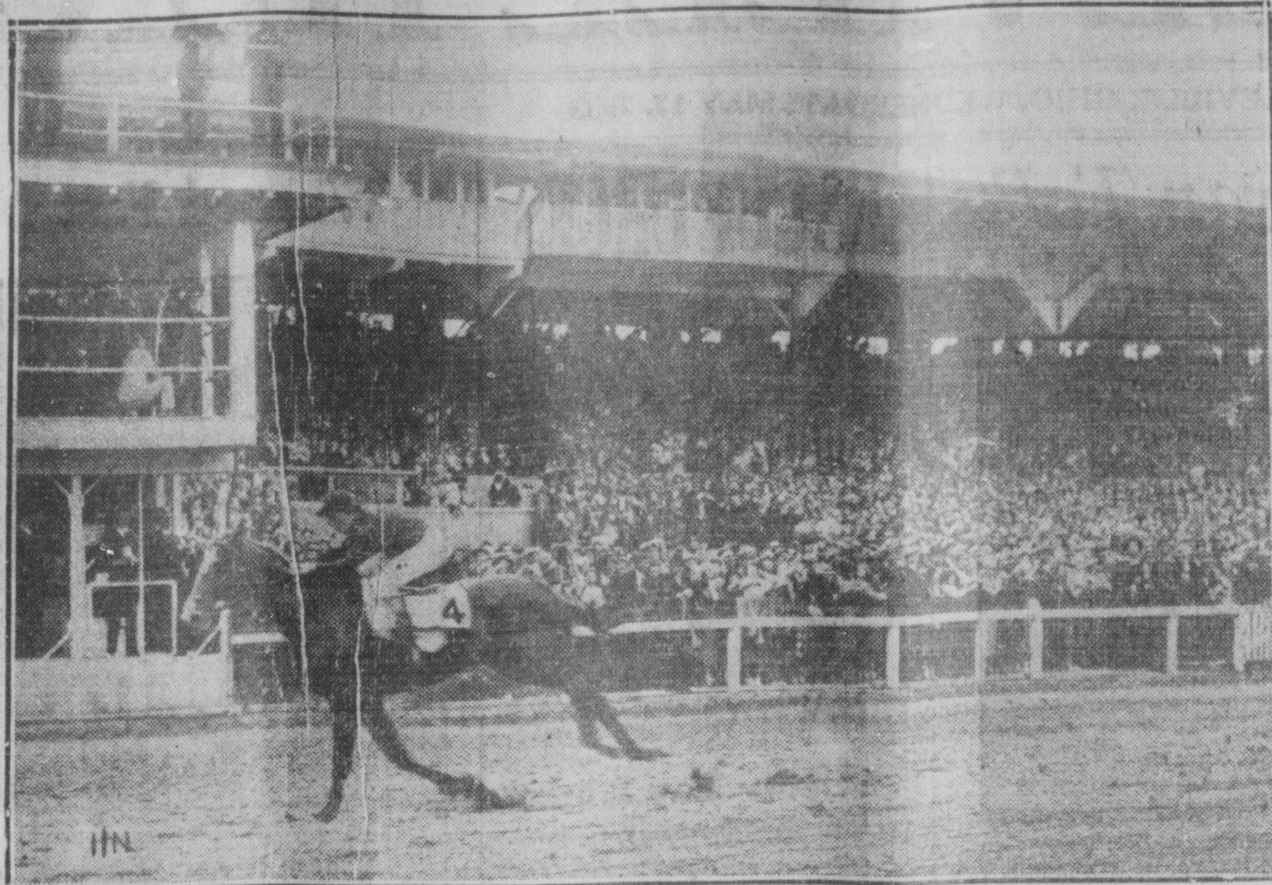

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remedy a whole lot. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

TREGO STARS FOR CAPITAL'S HARRIER TEAM

Commercial Point Sophomore High Point Man In Kenyon Meet.

Ellsworth 'Red' Trego, Commercial Point youth, led the Capital university track team to a 95-35 victory over Kenyon college Tuesday afternoon at Capital field.

Trego, a sophomore, proved a find topping the individual scorers with 16 points. He won first place in the broad jump and in the high jump and finished second in the 100 yard dash. His effort in the high jump was good enough to break a field record of 5 feet 7 inches established in 1931 by Murphy of Marietta. Trego leaped 5 feet 9 5/8 inches.

Capital carried off 13 out of 15 first places. This Trego boy is well-remembered for his sensational athletic ability because it was only a few years ago that he upset the Pickaway-co cage tournament. His team, an underdog, if there ever was one, turned back a strong Ashville team in the initial game of the tournament then went through to defeat Williamsport, an overwhelming favorite, in the finals after having the score nearly threefold against it at the end of the half. Trego scored several sensational shots in that final game one coming on a heave over the C. A. C. rafters.

He showed his ability as a track man in his freshman year at Capital and the next two seasons promise much activity for him.

Immaturity is the one big thing modern young people must overcome. That accomplished, they will be all right.

SAY M'PHAIL WILL RESIGN

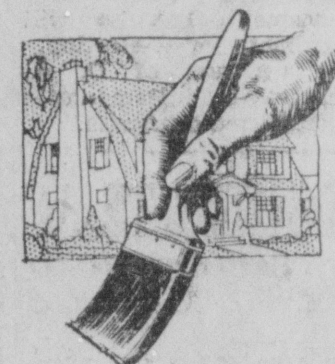

COLUMBUS, May 17.—Baseball fans of Columbus, who take the ups and downs of their Red Birds to heart and very seriously, were in a lather today as to whether Larry MacPhail, president of the club, is really through, finished and "washed up," or whether it is all a lot of hullabaloo about nothing.

To date, there have been nothing but denials. Those reputedly "in the know," however, elevated one eye-brow sagely today and archly mentioned the name of Branch Rickey, the high-mogul of the St. Louis Cardinals, parent of the Red Birds.

Rickey came to town last night and Dame Rumor flitted hurriedly from ear to ear with the gossip that a profound and significant statement might be expected from him probably today as to what the future holds for Mr. MacPhail as chief of the Red Birds.

MacPhail's reported impending resignation gained momentum today with the report that George (Red) Trautman, manager of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce convention bureau, has been offered the presidency of the Red Birds. Trautman, however, refused to discuss the reports and MacPhail, meanwhile, continued to deny that he has resigned.

The following second grade pupils have an E average in spelling for the entire year: Betty Mae Ward, Mary E. Wilkins, Joan Tosca, Isabelle Hallam, Frank Hinkle and Harold Gerhardt.

The following eighth grade pupils have not been absent not tardy this school year: Ruth Courtwright, Lucile Hedges, Jane Lindsey, Martha Martin, Walter Gregg, Evron Gulick, Richard Hoover, Wilbur Neff, and Richard Toole.

Wilbur Neff has not been absent nor tardy during the past eight school years.

Baccalaureate service was held at the high school auditorium last Sunday night. The service was in charge of Rev. Hiles.

The Senior commencement exercises will be held Thursday evening at eight o'clock. E. B. Bryan, president of Ohio University of Athens, will be the speaker.

The Junior-Senior banquet was held Friday evening. The dinner was served in the high school auditorium which was decorated in blue and gold, the Senior class colors. After the dinner and toasts were over all of the guests were invited to the athletic hall where an orchestra was playing amid lovely decorations of rainbow colors. However, one thing which added to the decorations the hard-hitting Norman with the tying run on base.

BOTH SCORE EARLY

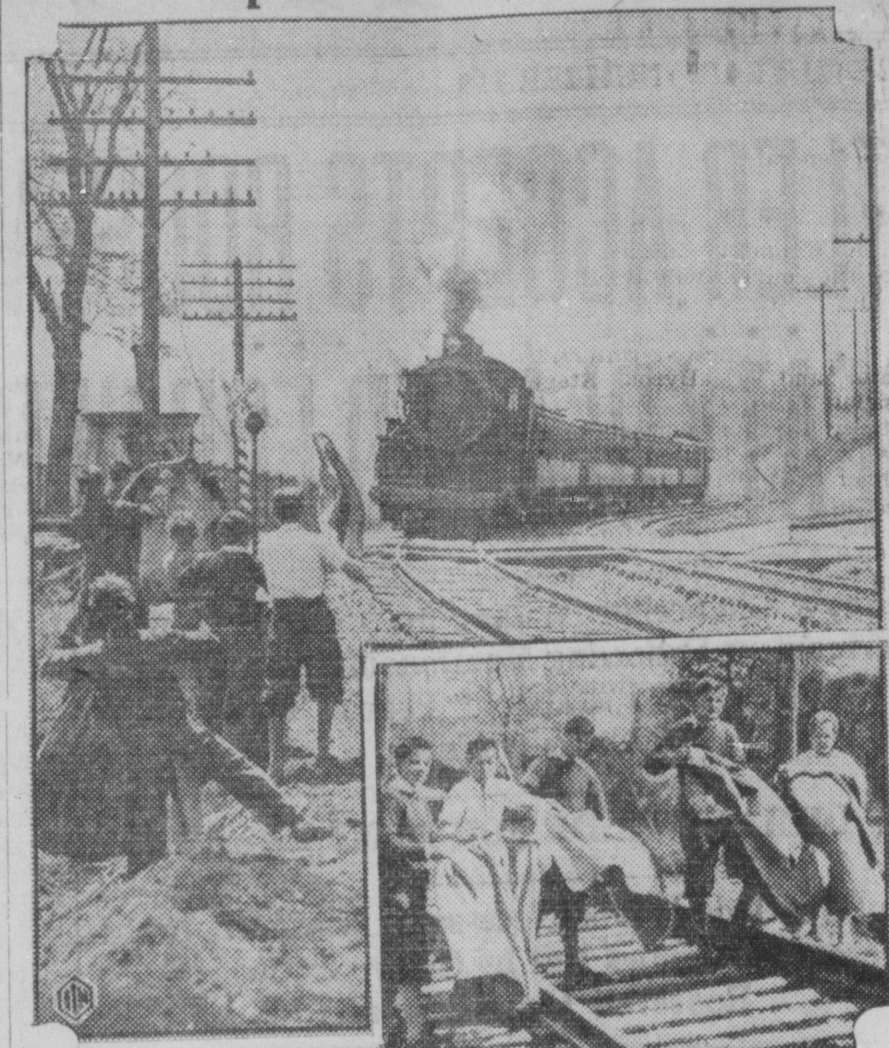

Two bad throws, one by Norman and the other by Jose Olvera, helped the Birds to their two runs in the first frame but both got hits in the next session to give the Colonels their runs.

The game was a neat hurling duel between Teachout and Moose Marcum with Louisville touching Teachout eight times and the Birds getting but six safeties off the pitcher-outfielder. The two Red Bird homeruns turned the trick, however.

Paul Dean was expected to hop on the hill this afternoon with Bubba Jonnard or Hal McKain hurling for the Kentuckians.

How Orphans Prevented Wreck

The fact that 500 commuters on the Erie railroad are safe and sound today is due to the efforts of these Passaic (N. J.) Orphan Asylum boys in flagging the express to a stop after they discovered that rains had washed away a portion of the tracks. "Tell Babe Ruth what we did!" was the only reward they asked. The Babe was deeply touched on being informed of the request and immediately responded by telegram.

CIRCLEVILLE, O.

PREPARATIONS ARE MADE FOR SCOUT CAMPS DURING SUMMER

The Central Ohio Area council, Boy Scouts of America, will do its share of camping this season.

K. A. Connelly, national director of the council, will again serve as chief counselor at Camp Lazarus being assisted by an able staff—R. B. Jameson, waterfront director, and Dr. Byron Steger, physician.

Camp Lazarus consists of 196 acres, which is located 22 miles north of Columbus. In view of the economic situation Camp Lazarus has been equipped for Troop Camping. Scouts may come to Camp Lazarus on a Troop basis under their own adult leadership. The cost for a boy to attend Camp Lazarus will be 15c per day plus his food. The 15c will take care of the expense for furnishing the following:

1. Expert Waterfront instructions.
2. Services of a registered physician.
3. Services of an expert camp director.
4. Use of tent houses, cots, Handicraft Lodge where they may participate in Handicraft work.
5. Stoves for cooking food in Troop units.
6. Lanterns for lighting cabins.
7. Axes for cutting firewood, of which there is a plenty.
8. Rakes, shovels and brooms are furnished.
9. Privilege of roaming over the entire reservation.
10. Refrigeration will be furnished for keeping of milk, butter, meat and other supplies.

Arrangements have been made to stock all kinds of canned goods and other merchandise relative to camp in the trading post where troops may purchase same at little above wholesale cost. Fresh milk and bread will be delivered to camp each day.

With these supplies and facilities made possible through the minimum cost of 15c per day, a Scout can come to Camp and furnish his own food for approximately $2.50 to $3.00 per week. This is in reach of every Scout that is interested in having a camping experience.

The units are so arranged at Camp Lazarus that a troop is practically isolated from all other units in camp, which permits each troop to live to themselves and operate their own troop program, under their own troop leadership.

Besides the troop camping at Camp Lazarus there will be four tours taken to the World's Fair on the following dates: June 13-24 inclusive; June 24-30 inclusive; August 14-20 inclusive, and August 20-26 inclusive.

For information on tours contact D. M. Reed, field director of the Central Ohio Area council and for information in regard to troop camping at Camp Lazarus see K. A. Connelly, Chief Camp Counselor of the Camp. Many troops have made arrangements to attend Camp Lazarus to date.

Acrobatic Drum Majors Usually Get Good Hand

The gymnastic drum major was once a favorite feature of public processions, and these performers were often of national repute. Of recent years, however, there has been a more modest behavior at the van of the musical organizations, the time markers restraining themselves to sedate movements to guide the cadence of their followers. The old-style twisters of the baton came back into vogue and won the plaudits of the crowd.

People like to laugh, and they are quick to acclaim with mirth anything that is peculiar and out of the ordinary. The drum major who flings his baton high in the air while he executes a double shuffle, who struts with exaggerated pomposity and protruding chest, who cake-walks his way along the route, is sure of a "hand" from the crowd. Certain bands cannot tolerate such behavior at their van, for they have reputations as musicians to maintain rather than as comedians. It has in the course of many years been noted that the drum major who wins the loudest applause usually heads the poorest band.—Washington Star.

WANT-AD RESULTS

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 15, 1933

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

New York Leads Way
NEW YORK in taking steps to curb the alimony racket has set an example which needs to be followed by other states whose laws relating to this subject instead of seeing that justice is done in divorce actions in reality legalize graft.

Three bills changing the alimony laws of New York state have been signed by Governor Lehman. One gives to the court authority to modify alimony and contempt orders where the party in failing to make payments is financially unable to do so. Another permits the granting of a preference in an action for a separation as well as in a divorce case where an order granting temporary alimony has been made. Under the third, the court is allowed to use its discretion in refusing an application to punish a husband for failure to make alimony payments if it is convinced he has no means with which to pay.

Sending a man to jail because he can not make alimony payments is an injustice that can not be defended. Yet this has been the practice in New York and still is the practice in other states. No one is helped. The former wife is not benefited, for as long as the man is in prison he has no way of earning money with which to make payments. Society is not helped. It has to support the man while he is in jail.

The court probably thinks it has maintained its dignity by sending to jail a man unable to pay a debt it had ordered him to pay, but this is a questionable conclusion.

Charity begins at home. So does the absence of it.

Telling It to Congress
ANOTHER movement within congress to eliminate the mileage graft practiced by that body has been launched, this time by Representative Cannon of Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin member proposes that the present traveling expenses of 15 cents a mile allowed congressmen be reduced to five cents. The latter figure, he said, would be half a cent a mile more than the actual amount as shown by investigation, required in traveling to and from sessions. He pointed out that in the 72nd session the California delegation received $47,000 for traveling expenses, which was more than $41,000 in excess of the actual cost.

Representative Cannon then told the house a truth that ought to have taken some of the self-conceit out of the members.

"It is such practices as this," he said, "coupled with the daily clownish antics for which both houses are noted, that bring the congress of the United States into such universal disrepute and disrespect with the American people."

That this reprimand was merited can not be disputed by anyone who follows congressional practices and proceedings. There is little hope, though, that it will succeed in eliminating the traveling expense graft or "clownish antics."

THE CHALLENGE OF LOVE
by WARWICK DEEPING

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

"I am not afraid of roughing it." "No man ought to be. Now, Jess—well, we've no cause to bring in Jess."

Wolfe looked straight at Mrs. Mascall. "To be honest, that's what I came up here for."

"Did you now?" "It is about Jess. It must be about Jess. You will let me say what I want to say?"

"I expect I should have to hear it, if I wanted to or not."

Wolfe's nervousness showed itself in a kind of tenseness, a brightening of the eyes, a lowering of the voice. It was not easy for him to say what he had to say, and his own sincerity kept nudging and prompting him at every turn. A curious and half-boyish diffidence made him seem ten years younger. He began sentences, altered them, dropped them, and started afresh. There was a certain fierce naïveté about him that made Mrs. Mascall glance at him with a flash of affection from under half-closed lids.

Mary Mascall's face had warmed towards him.

"Tisn't easy to say some things."

"Not when one's in grim earnest."

"Come round here, lad, and kiss me."

Wolfe went and kissed her. His spirits seemed to rise up fresh and buoyant, like a swimmer who climbs up out of the sea after a plunge on a summer morning.

"You are just the man, John, I should want for the girl."

"But she mustn't know, not a word. It wouldn't be fair. You see what I mean. I don't know what is going to happen here. I may be out on the world in ten days. But I'll work through. I'll smash things if they get in my way. I only want you to trust me."

"I'll do that."

"And I might write once a month, just like a brother. If I'm not too far off I could run down here now and again when I can get a day or two. I want her to be free, free all round. I don't want her to think anything, to have anything pushed under her eyes. When I am the man I mean to be, things will be different."

Mary Mascall looked up at him with wet, bright eyes.

"You make me cry, lad, you do, sure!"

"But you don't mean that I must not."

"You great goose, you, as if I wouldn't like my conscience to every word you've said!"

Under one of the great cedar trees at "Pardons," a man dressed in a light summer suit lay very much at his ease upon a cane "reclining" chair. He had a little green garden-table at his right elbow, ready with books and papers, a whisky-decanter, soda-water, and glasses. The boughs of the cedar let golden blurs of sunshine through upon the grass, though the mottled shade seemed carefully suited to the cool serenity of the man who regarded comfort as a thing necessary to existence. The perfect lawns of "Pardons" unfolded themselves to right and left, while the man's feet pointed towards the terraced borders and the red-brick walls and grey-stone window frames and mullions of the Tudor house.

For twenty minutes a woman in a white dress and a big yellow straw hat had been shooting arrows down a miniature glade.

The air was absolutely still, and the smoke from the man's cigar floated upwards in blue, wavering lines. Sometimes he closed his eyes like a contemplative Buddha, whom no earthly happenings could disturb. The occasional burr of a bow-string and the faint thud of an arrow striking a target did not so much as persuade him to turn his head. A cynic had said of Percival Harkness that had the Last Trump sounded he would have turned his head half an inch to one side, and requested a waiter "to tell that fellow Gabriel not to make such a deuced noise." A remarkably self-satisfied man, sleek, particular, and infallible, he had a way of bidding the world withdraw itself to a distance, and await his pleasure. Put him upon his feet, and he was tall and aristocratic, with a peculiarly cocky tilt to his nose and head, and a kind of superior amusement in his hard, blue eyes.

For twenty minutes a woman in a white dress and a big yellow straw hat had been shooting arrows down a miniature glade between broad grass slopes and the towering stateliness of the cedars. When she had exhausted her arrows she would stroll with an absolutely uninterested expression towards the target, count her score, gather her arrows, and stroll back again to her place. Sometimes she glanced at the man in the chair. She had a fine figure, and showed it to advantage when bending a bow. Moreover, she shot well, very few of her arrows streaking their way through the sunlight to stand slantingly in the grass. The leather brace on her left wrist was laced with a length of scarlet silk.

"Are you coming to shoot?" The man opened his eyes.

"What energy you have! Besides, I should make no show against you."

"But you would be impressed by my shooting. Other people like to make a little display!"

"I am quite ready to lie here and clap. Besides, to watch you I should have to get up and turn this chair round. What is the score, five bulls, six in the gold, and so on?"

She turned slowly and shot an arrow. It struck the edge of the target, and glanced upwards into the boughs of a cedar.

"That was a miss."

"Oh, shame!" "You never do anything, do you, unless it strikes you that the act is exquisite?"

"A man should never permit himself to do anything badly. He should live above criticism. Only barbarians run races, and that kind of thing."

Mrs. Ursula Brandon fitted another arrow to her string.

"I have an idea, Percival, that I should like to put you down there in place of the target."

"My dear Diana!" "Would you play William Tell? No, you would run away, you know. I wonder how a man manages to run away—gracefully."

ORBETELLO, Italy, May 17.—One hundred Italian airmen, who will participate early next month in the epoch-making seaplane flight from Italy to the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, went into almost monastic seclusion today.

For three weeks they will be closely confined to barracks at the great airport here, denied permission to receive women visitors, even their fiancées.

Gen. Italo Balbo, air minister, who will command the flight, desires that all their thoughts shall be concentrated on the impending hop across the Atlantic. Hence their preparation will be spiritual as well as technical.

From now on every minute of the day will be devoted to scheduled lessons and trial flights over Lake Orbetello or conferences on the problems to be encountered on a route that will carry this great air armada as far north as Labrador before it comes to rest on Lake Michigan.

The training will be done on seaplanes practically of identical design with those to be used on the actual flight but these planes will not be turned over to the pilots until nearly the moment of the hop-off so as to be in the best possible condition after tests by official experts under the full responsibility of the manufacturers.

Along the sea route across the north Atlantic several British trawlers have been chartered by the Italian government to be spread out at intervals to render aid to any seaplane that is in distress. Each trawler will carry three Italian air force officers to act as navigators, meteorologists and radio operators.

Several submarines will also cooperate, watching the route and minimizing the risk of accident. The trawlers and submarines which are to be posted nearest the American side have already sailed to take up their posts.

MAY NOT STOP
If all goes well the 24 seaplanes making the flight will hop directly from Iceland to Labrador without a stop at Greenland. Italian chances are already in Iceland picking sheltered fjords where the planes may be brought down.

Value of Spinal Puncture In Recognizing Diseases

This Method of Diagnosis Is Now Painless and Often the Sure Way of Determining Certain Ills in Their Early Stages

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

MANY PERSONS misunderstand what is meant by "spinal puncture" and are alarmed if it is suggested. There is a popular idea that it is dangerous to have a spinal puncture. But when the procedure and its purpose are explained, they forget their fears.

Spinal puncture is used to aid in the recognition of certain diseases. In some instances it is curative, bringing relief from pain and suffering.

Running through the inside of the spinal column, the back-bone, is a space called the spinal canal. This carries the great nerve, the spinal cord, which is surrounded by more or less fluid.

Spinal puncture is the tapping of the spinal membranes for the purpose of obtaining some of this fluid. A small amount is withdrawn, examined under a microscope and subjected to various tests.

Painless Now
Examination of the spinal fluid is of great value in diagnosing certain disorders. In doubtful cases it may be the only means of actually determining whether or not a patient is suffering from tumor of the brain, tuberculosis of the brain, various forms of spinal meningitis, fractured skull and other disorders.

Fortunately, it is now possible to perform a spinal puncture without pain and discomfort to the patient. I can recall the days when spinal puncture was an uncomfortable procedure. Today, by the aid of local anesthesia, little, if any, discomfort is experienced. The patient may feel the slight pin-prick of the hypodermic needle and perhaps a mild feeling of jar.

Spinal puncture may be performed in the home or at the hospital. It is preferably done at the hospital where all the facilities for the various tests are available.

Harmless, Too
You will recall that during the recent infantile paralysis epidemic it was advised that all suspected cases of paralysis be submitted to the spinal puncture. It was the only sure means of recognizing the disease in its early stages. The number of children who were subjected to this procedure was great. There were no mishaps or bad effects.

It is the universal testimony of friends of mine in the profession, men who have made hundreds of these punctures, that no harm results. "We have never had any bad results from our spinal punctures and are anxious to extend the benefits of this diagnostic procedure to all in whom it is plainly indicated."

No one will deny that the success of modern medicine is due to the increasing and accurate knowledge of the causes of disease. It is when the cause is not known that the outlook is unfavorable. The use of the laboratory tests, such as the blood count, the Wasserman test, spinal puncture and the X-ray examination, enables the modern physician to detect and prevent diseases that would prove fatal if unrecognized.

If your physician advises a spinal puncture do not hesitate to take advantage of this modern method of diagnosis. Do not fear the test and above all else, forget the false stories that have been circulated about it. It isn't as disagreeable as having a tooth extracted and certainly is no more dangerous.

He is an accomplished musician and composer. He is widely known for his short stories and essays. An etching by him was included in an exhibition which featured the hundred best drawings of 1932.

Lionel Barrymore's talents as an actor are once more on display in "Sweepings," an RKO-Radio Picture, adapted from Lester Cohen's popular novel of the same title. It is attracting crowds to the Cliftona Theatre, where it remains until Friday.

George Meeker, hands on a young juvenile, plays the part of Lionel Barrymore's second son in "Sweepings," directed for RKO-Radio by John Cromwell. He played the part opposite Sidney Fox in "Strictly Dishonorable" and with Janet Gaynor in "Tess of the Storm Country" recently.

D. A. R. HEARS REPORTS OF NATIONAL CONGRESS

The meeting of Pickaway Plains chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Glenn Nickerson, S. Court-st., was one of the most enjoyable sessions of the year.

Reports of Mrs. Nickerson and Miss Clara Littleton, delegates to the forty-second Continental Congress recently held in Washington, D. C., were heard at this time. More than 3,000 delegates were in attendance at the Congress.

The Circleville delegates reported that the addresses of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, recently appointed Minister to Denmark, and Mrs. Amelia Farhart Putman's description of her recent solo flight across the Atlantic, were the outstanding points of the convention.

Mrs. Nickerson and Miss Littleton attended the Easter services at the Cathedral in Washington at which the Roosevelts were present, and were also present at a reception at the White House given by Mrs. Roosevelt.

Mrs. George Hamman, Jr., of Williamsport, read an interesting paper on Simon Girty, who was captured by the Seneca Indians when a child and held captive for years. When he was freed, he became a scout. He acted as interpreter at the time that Logan, the Mingo Chief, made his famous speech to John Gibson. Girty later became a renegade and was a most inhuman villain whose name was a terror to the settlers.

After the meeting, refreshments were served in the dining room with Miss Charlotte Caldwell and Miss Clara Littleton pouring tea.

The June session will be the annual Guest Day and will be held at Mrs. Hunsicker's tea room. Luncheon will be served and members are permitted to bring guests who are members of other D. A. R. chapters. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Harry Heffner.

LOGAN ELM GRANGE HAS INITIATION

It was also decided that the fiscal year for the club would start now and end May 2, 1934.

Special announcement was made concerning the Y. P. B. convention to be held June 20 to 23 at Canton. Three local members will participate in the convention program. Marshall Spangler will give one of the principal addresses and John Maxey and Louise Ward will present a playlet. A large delegation from the local club is expected to attend.

A number of reports were given by the departmental directors concerning their work, after which the meeting was turned over to Marshall Spangler, who conducted a program on International Peace. It opened with responsive Scripture reading dealing with peace. A discussion followed on various points of the Four-fold Peace plan. Delicious refreshments were served during a social hour by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, June 8, at the home of Roy Ferguson, 451 E. Ohio-st. Mr. Ferguson will be in charge of the program. He is director of the Evangelistic department.

PRESENT SENIOR CLASS PLAY ON WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Wednesday morning the cast gave a preview of "The King Rides By" in chapel. For the first time the "king" was presented. His identity was hidden in the folds of the very large robe which he wore.

He spoke just long enough to tell us who he was—then the curtain was drawn so that the mystery would not be completely solved before the presentations of the play.

The question "Who is the King?" is on everyone's lips. What does he look like? His stateliness was revealed by his actions, but his appearance is known to no one. The only way to answer this question is to come and see for yourself the senior class play, "The King Rides By" at the high school auditorium May 18 and 19 at 8 p. m.

The other members of the cast include: Edmund Dorset, William Hegele; Simmons, John Mason; Loranda, Gene Rader; Cecily Dorset, Mildred Rummel; Captain Wheatley, Paul Wallace; Deborah Winchell, Sara May; Hal Stanley; Howard Ater; Baroness, Charlotte Caskey; Valeria Dorset, Theda Bowsher; Cash McCord, John Stivers; Stuffy, Martin Hickey; and Kate Wells, Katherine Foresman. The settings and costumes are more elaborate than they have been in the previous plays presented at the high school this year.

HITLER ACCEPTS ROOSEVELT PLEA TREATY BLAMED FOR GERMAN WOE

Germany's Chancellor Willing to Proceed Toward Disarmament Following MacDonald Plan; Willing to Accept United States as Peace Guarantor, Address Declares

NEW DEMAND MADE FOR ARMS EQUALITY

Hitler Says This is Not Necessary, However, by Increasing Armies But by Others Cutting; Roosevelt Hears Plaudits

BERLIN, May 17.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler this afternoon announced Germany's acceptance of President Roosevelt's disarmament proposals in a speech to the Reichstag, marked by its conciliatory tone.

He agreed to proceed toward disarmament along the lines suggested at Geneva by Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, whose disarmament proposals were recommended to the world yesterday by the American president.

He further expressed willingness to accept the United States as guarantor of world peace under any new security arrangement.

SPEECH'S FEATURES

BERLIN, May 17.—Some of the most important statements in Chancellor Hitler's speech today follow:

"All our troubles originated with the Treaty of Versailles."

"New application of force would only lead to disturbance of the balance of power in Europe and disintegration of the existing order."

"Germany wants to prevent a forcible solution (of the world chaos) by sincere co-operation. Inner political aims do not harm other nations."

"We have no desire to Germanize others, but we will defend ourselves if others try to de-Germanize Germans."

"Germany has disarmed beyond reason. She has a normal claim upon the allies to fulfill their obligations under the treaties."

"Germany is ready to renounce her demands for offensive reasons if the other nations destroy theirs."

"Germany's one wish is for peace and independence."

"Hitler finished his address at 4:02 p. m. (11:02 a. m. E. D. T.) with a fervent plea for world co-operation."

"May the nations," he said, "find a way to real understanding on the basis of equal rights."

The Reichstag immediately passed a resolution endorsing the chancellor's announced foreign policies in full and then joined in singing "Deutschland Ueber Alles."

By International News Service

President Roosevelt's appeal yesterday for disarmament met with almost universal approval in world capitals, the only discordant note coming from Japan.

Germany welcomed the president's initiative, believing it will inspire the Geneva disarmament conference to genuine efforts in behalf of arms limitation.

France professed to see in Roosevelt's appeal a definite warning to Hitlerite Germany that she must not rearm and saw no criticism at all of the French military establishment.

Great Britain was delighted at Roosevelt's acceptance of the disarmament plan of Premier MacDonald and King George himself will express his approval in a message to the American president.

Italy, it is unofficially stated, will approve Roosevelt's proposals in toto.

Japanese military circles, however, objected to approval of the MacDonald disarmament plan, which they opposed, and also to the president's plea for an agreement against invasion, citing "abnormal conditions" in China.

COUNTY OFFICIALS AT STATE MEETINGS

Four county officials attended conventions in Columbus Tuesday afternoon.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Bryan Custer were at the second anniversary meeting of the Buckeye State Sheriff's association at the Southern Hotel when the chief business was discussion of bills to be presented to the legislature asking that sheriff's term be extended to four years.

Treasurer Earl L. Hoffman was at a state treasurers' meeting with the subject much the same and Prosecutor Ray W. Davis heard a talk by Attorney General John Bricker at the state County Prosecuting Attorneys' meeting.

CLERK'S TERM NOW 4 YEARS

House Passes Measure Backed By State Association, 94 To 24.

WHITE MUST SIGN
Pickens' Term To Run Until Jan. 1, 1937.

Ferd M. Pickens, N. Court-st., will be Pickaway-co's clerk of courts until Jan. 1, 1937, provided Governor George White puts his signature on a bill passed by the House of Representatives Tuesday.

The measure had already been approved in the senate.

The bill makes the terms of clerks four years and extends terms of incumbents two years.

The vote was 94 to 24, with some opposition being voiced against the provision extending terms of incumbents.

The term of Mr. Pickens would have come to an end on Jan. 1, 1935 at the conclusion of his second term.

The bill as approved by the senate and house is similar to that extending terms of county recorders to four years passed before adjournment. That measure assures Mary G. Morris, incumbent, her office until Jan. 1, 1937.

Mr. Pickens is president of the Ohio Clerks' association.

Former Resident Of City Involved In Hot Contest Over U.S. Revenue 'Plum'

Mrs. Bernice Pyke Backed By Brunner for Cleveland Collector's Job But Jim Farley Is Opposed Because of Chicago's Activity.

A former Circleville woman, Mrs. Bernice Pyke, of Cleveland, is in the center of a northern Ohio political controversy which is causing Democratic leaders to take notice.

The maiden name of Mrs. Pyke, probably the outstanding Democratic woman in Ohio, was Secrist, her father being a member of the hardware firm, Shaner and Secrist, here a number of years ago.

Henry G. Brunner, of Mansfield, state Democratic chairman, unqualifiedly announced Tuesday that he is not a candidate for any federal post at present and declared that he favored the appointment of Mrs. Pyke for federal revenue collector at Cleveland.

Reports had recently said that Brunner was in line for the post of federal collector of the Columbus district. He was also mentioned for the post at Cleveland.

On the other hand James Farley, postmaster general, seems to recall Mrs. Pyke's activity at the Chicago convention where she backed J. Edgar Hoover for convention chairman against the late Tom Walsh, and as a result is not in favor of naming her for the "patronage plum."

Mrs. Pyke is a Cleveland well-known.

JOE THOMAS FINDS SOME LOST CATTLE

Unrelenting in a search for 28 cattle which were missing from his canal road farm last Sunday morning, Joe Thomas, Wayne-twp farmer, Wednesday announced that all but 16 of the cattle had been found alive on the east side of the Scioto river.

Forty-four animals were on the farm when high water came and only 16 of them could be removed to safety before the flood waters caught the others.

Searching up and down the canal and river Mr. Thomas heard some cattle 'bawling' on the opposite side and investigation led to their recovery.

Residents of Yellowbud, however, reported they saw some cattle floating in the water apparently drowned thus causing hope for the remainder to wane.

LEAGUE URGES CITY TO BUILD POWER PLANT

Figures Shown at C. C. Meeting Comparing Rates of Plants

CROWD IS PRESENT

Utilities to Have Program on June 13

One of the largest crowds to attend a Chamber of Commerce meeting in recent months heard the program of the Circleville Citizens' league Tuesday evening.

The Citizens' league is advocating municipal ownership of utilities and had figures and charts prepared for discussion.

After an excellent dinner the meeting was turned over by President Durward Dowden to Harry W. Heffner, secretary of the League, who explained its purposes. He expressed appreciation of council passing a resolution to hire a competent, unbiased engineer to survey the city for possibilities of municipal plants and said that he hoped an appropriation would be made at an early date to employ such a person.

CHARTS SHOWN
Mr. Heffner introduced Vattier Courtwright, a member of the League's committee on the light utility. Courtwright made his talk with the aid of a system of charts on which were printed comparative figures taken from towns where the light and power plants are owned and operated by the city. He showed in his charts figures comparing light rates of cities other than Circleville served by the Southern Ohio Electric Co. His figures showed that Circleville is paying a higher rate than the other cities.

After Mr. Courtwright concluded his part of the program a more or less round-table discussion followed with Ward Robinson showing figures obtained from towns with various water companies municipally owned; Paul E. Adkins, city solicitor, explaining the necessary legal steps before municipal ownership; John C. Goeller, president of council, reading figures he has received comparing rates here and in other cities of similar size. Alfred Lee, Northridge-rd, told of his experience in living in a city with municipal ownership of its light plant and how much lower his rates were.

UTILITY PROGRAM
After numerous questions and answers were made the meeting closed.

President Dowden announced that at the June meeting the various utilities will have charge of the program with C. T. Gilmore, of the electric company, as chairman. Other members of the committee include Earl W. Lutz, of the Citizens' League, W. C. Harry Denman of the Ohio Water Service Co., and George Forster of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

This meeting will be held on June 13.

He is the only Democratic who has announced his intention of seeking the solicitor's post. Paul E. Adkins, incumbent solicitor, has designated, although not in a formal announcement, that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Leist is a son of C. A. Leist, Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee chairman.

GUARDS HURL TEAR BOMBS AT THROG

RACINE, Wis., May 17.—Fifty national guardsmen armed with tear gas today dispersed several hundred milk strikers who had gathered at the home of Allen Gifford, dairy company executive, to enforce their demands that a shipment of milk be dumped.

Tear gas bombs were hurled at the holligans as the militiamen twice routed the mob. Seven picketers were arrested.

Brought here to the county jail, the seven men were held on charges of disorderly conduct and rioting.

Two militiamen and four members of the mob received cuts and bruises in the melee. None was seriously injured.

The guardsmen returned to Kenosha after the mob was scattered and quiet restored.

AIRSHIP ACCEPTED

AKRON, May 17.—Formally accepted as a unit of the U. S. army fighting equipment, the TC-13, largest non-rigid airship in the world, today was enroute to its base at Langley Field, Va.

The ship left the Wingfoot dock, where it was constructed at 125 a. m. on its southern trip.

Major W. E. Koppert was in command of the craft, which carried three officers and four enlisted men.

City Dads Meet Tonight and May Read Ordinance Third Time.

CUT CANDLE POWER
No Lights Would Be Eliminated, However.

Possibility that city council, this evening, may pass the street light rate ordinance offered by the Southern Ohio Electric Co. was expressed today. The utility was offered a proposition for a three year period which would save the city $3,895.05 annually for the length of the contract.

The ordinance has been read twice and, if regular procedure is followed, will be brought up for a vote tonight, after it is read for the third time.

The ordinance is the result of conferences held with the utility men since early in the year. The ordinance under which the city is now being charged expired Dec. 31, 1932.

CUT 40 PER CENT
The city now is being charged $9,198.85 annually for its street lights and the new contract would be for $5,513.50, a slash of about 40 per cent.

As a result of the reduction in cost the power company would reduce the candle power of a number of street lights. None, however, would be eliminated.

The street lighting offer has nothing to do with the domestic rate which schedule does not expire until June, 1936.

Council's attitude has been to approve the lighting ordinance since unless something is done immediately the city will continue to be charged the rate that continues from Dec. 31 last. One councilman in expressing his views said, "We have before us the plea of the Citizens' League asking us to refrain from entering into long contracts with any utilities because of the possibility of municipal ownership. Such ownership, if it does come, cannot be completed in six months, a year, or two years and we do not see why we should not pay the lower rate during that time."

It is expected a public hearing on municipal ownership will be called by council at a later date.

NEW ANGLE SEEN IN BASING DEATH

LANCASTER, May 17.—Edward F. Warner, 39, Basil route 1, pleaded not guilty Tuesday when arraigned before Common Pleas Judge E. M. Akin for murder of Earl Basing, 44.

He is being held without bail. Another angle in the Basing murder was known today as Prosecuting Attorney William Schweikert, told of the receipt of a letter from Blaine Miller, 50, bachelor farmer and neighbor of Earl Basing, a few hours before Miller committed suicide.

It was intimated that Miller, who was a grand jury witness, had revealed the identity of the killer of Basing and that Miller feared for his own life.

ROOSEVELT WORKS PLAN READY TODAY

Legislation for Gigantic Program Asked of Congress in Message

CITIES LIQUOR TAX

Wide Re-Employment Expected by President

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—President Roosevelt today sent Congress for legislation which will permit the launching of a $3,300,000,000 public works program and at the same time will industry under government supervision to enter into agreements designed to prevent unfair competition and disastrous overproduction.

The president reported in his separate message that the $220,000,000 of additional money would be needed to undertake the public works program.

CITIES EARLY REPLY
He did not make specific recommendation as to how this money should be raised leaving it to the discretion of Congress but he said that provision should be made for the reduction of expenditures for such additional taxes as business improves or whenever repeal of the 18th amendment permits a restoration of prohibition laws.

In asking that industry be empowered to organize within the president contemplates the reduction of the anti-trust laws made clear, however, that the government supervision of private combinations be continuously maintained.

SEES EMPLOYMENT
Through enactment of the public works program, the president hoped to shorten the unemployment week, to pay a decent wage, to shorten the week and to prevent unfair competition and disorganization.

OPEN HEARING ON SALES TAX

Expect Definite Yes-or-No Vote In House Some Time This Week.

COLUMBUS, May 17.—Hopes of getting a definite yes-or-no vote on the sales tax tomorrow in the house of representatives, the house taxation committee today opened a hearing on Governor George White's taxation program.

Chairman William H. Goodwin (D), of Hamilton, predicted that the taxation committee will recommend the sales tax bill out for passage within a few hours.

"The administration is confident," he declared, "that the bill can come up for a vote on the floor of the house tomorrow. We are also confident that we can get enough votes to pass the bill."

Administration leaders, it was understood, will crack the party whip in an effort to pass the bill speedily in the lower house. An attempt will be made, however, to amend the measure to eliminate the coupon-book feature.

Franklin County To Receive Huge Real Tax Slash

COLUMBUS, May 17.—A budget 20 per cent cut in Franklin county's real estate tax valuation loomed as a possibility today after the Ohio Tax Commission was told by Attorney General John W. Laffey Bricker it had authority for such a step.

Members of the commission were scheduled to meet today to consider their plans, but the general reduction was forecast because the commission had specifically asked the attorney general if it had power under the law for such a step.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel any and want and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gums and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two quarts of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels.
You build up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul.
Your skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two quarts of bile flowing freely and make you feel "top and up." They contain powerful, natural, gentle vegetable extracts, among which is senna, the most powerful of all when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's the name. It's on all boxes. © 1931 C. M. Co.

All these boys are, or have been low 80s even this early in the season.

Frank Ossey, Pickaway club

good chance to make a showing in the tournament.

Although the track meet be-local Tiger crew was postponed

Coach Pete Herberholz Wednesanxious to meet the South Central make up somewhat for the two meet was decided in the last event.

About 15 men will make the

TRIPLETT FAST

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 17.—
When Ernie Triplett tore around the Indianapolis Motor Speedway recently faster than 120 miles an hour to set a new two man car speed record for a single lap, the blonde Pacific Coast champion definitely notified the speedmen, gathered here for the annual 500-mile race on May 30, that he was cut for qualifying honors and gave them a mark to shoot at.

Hemmed in the garages by several days of rain and pulling at the bits to get going in pre race practice, drivers and car owners huddled in gasoline alley and made careful conjectures as to who could catch the flying west coaster when the elimination trials get under way Saturday, May 20.

The distance for qualification has been increased from 10 to 25 miles and few believe that Triplett can keep up such a terrific pace over the most grueling distance ever designated for a test run.

There are some veterans who think that the qualifying time of the pole car will exceed 119 miles an hour but a cross section of opinion places the average time between 116 and 118 miles an hour for the fastest car.

TREGO STARS FOR CAPITAL'S HARRIER TEAM

Commercial Point Sophomore High Point Man In Kenyon Meet.

Ellsworth "Red" Trego, Commercial Point youth, led the Capital university track team to a 95-25 victory over Kenyon college Tuesday afternoon at Capital field.

Trego, a sophomore, proved a find topping the individual scorers with 16 points.

He won first place in the broad jump and in the high jump and finished second in the 100 yard dash. His effort in the high jump was good enough to break a field record of 5 feet 7 inches established in 1931 by Murphy of Marietta.

Trego leaped 5 feet 9 5/8 inches.
Capital carried off 13 out of 15
first places.

This Trego boy is well-remembered for his sensational athletic ability because it was only a few years ago that he upset the Pick-away-co cage tournament. His team, an underdog if there ever was one, turned back a strong Ash-ville team in the initial game of the tournament then went through to defeat Williamsport, an overwhelming favorite, in the finals after having the score nearly threefold against it at the end of the half. Trego scored several sensational shots in that final game one coming on a heave over the C. A.
C. rafters.

He showed his ability as a track man in his freshman year at Capital and the next two seasons promise much activity for him.

SAY M'PHAIL WILL RESIGN

COLUMBUS, May 17.—Baseball fans of Columbus, who take up the ups and downs of their Red Birds to heart and very seriously, were in a lather today as to whether Larry MacPhail, president of the club, is really through. Finished and "washed up," or whether it is all a lot of hullablow about nothing.

To date, there have been nothing but denials. Those reputedly "in the know," however, elevated one eye-brow sagely today and archly
mentioned the name of Branch
Rickey, the high-mogul of the St.
Louis Cardinals, parent of the Red Birds.

Rickey came to town last night and Dame Rumor flitted hurriedly from ear to ear with the gossip that a profound and significant statement might be expected from him probably today as to what the future holds for Mr. MacPhail as chief of the Red Birds.

MacPhail's reported impending resignation gained momentum today with the report that George (Red) Trautman, manager of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce convention bureau, has been offered the presidency of the Red Birds. Trautman, however, refused to discuss the reports and MacPhail, meanwhile, continued to deny that he has resigned.

4-PLY BLOWS AID TEACHOUT EDGE MARCUM

Delancey and Riggs Connect
In Eighth; Dean To Hurl Today.

Consecutive home runs by Bill Delancey and Lou Riggs in the eighth inning gave the Columbus Red Birds a victory over the Louisville Colonels in the first of a three-game series in the Stadium Monday. The final score was 4-3.

End Teachout was on the bill for the Birds and his southpaw slants were treated somewhat roughly by the Colonels although excellent holding back of the former Chicago Club helped him over the rough spots.

He ended the game by fanning the hard-hitting Norman with the tying run on base.

BOTH SCORE EARLY
Two bad throws, one by Norman and the other by Jose Olivares, helped the Birds to their two runs in the first frame but both got hits in the next session to give the Colonels their runs.

The game was a neat hurling
duel between Teachout and Moose Marcum with Louisville touching Teachout eight times and the Birds getting but six safeties off the pitcher-outfielder. The two Red Bird homeruns turned the trick, however.

Paul Dean was expected to hop on the hill this afternoon with Bab-ber Jonnard or Hal McKain hurling for the Kentuckians.

How Orphans Prevented Wreck

The fact that 500 commuters on the Erie railroad are safe and sound today is due to the efforts of these Passaic (N. J.) Orphan Asylum boys in flagging the express to a stop after they discovered that rains had washed away a portion of the tracks. "Tell Babe Ruth what we did!"
was the only reward they asked. The Babe was deeply touched on being informed of the request and immediately responded by telegram.

PREPARATIONS ARE MADE FOR SCOUT CAMPS DURING SUMMER

The Central Ohio Area council, Boy Scouts of America, will do its share of camping this season.

K. A. Connelly, national director of the council, will again serve as chief counselor at Camp Lazarus being assisted by an able staff—R. B. Jameson, waterfront director, and Dr. Byron Steger, physician.

Camp Lazarus consists of 196 acres, which is located 22 miles north of Columbus. In view of the economic situation Camp Lazarus has been equipped for Troop Camping. Scouts may come to Camp Lazarus on a Troop basis under their own adult leadership. The cost for a boy to attend Camp Lazarus will be 15c per day plus his food. The 15c will take care of the expense for furnishing the following:

1. Expert Waterfront instructions.
2. Services of a registered physician.
3. Services of an expert camp director.
4. Use of tent houses, cots, Handicraft Lodge where they may participate in Handicraft work.
5. Stoves for cooking food in Troop units.
6. Lanterns for lighting cabins.
7. Axes for cutting firewood, of which there is a plenty.
8. Rakes, shovels and brooms are furnished.
9. Privilege of roaming over the entire reservation.
10. Refrigeration will be furnished for keeping of milk, butter,

meat and other supplies.

Arrangements have been made to stock all kinds of canned goods and other merchandise relative to camp in the trading post where troops may purchase same at little above wholesale cost. Fresh milk and bread will be delivered to camp each day.

With these supplies and facilities made possible through the minimum cost of 15c per day, a Scout can come to Camp and furnish his own food for a proximately $2.50 to $3.00 per week. This is in reach of every Scout that is interested in having a camping experience.

The units are so arranged at Camp Lazarus that a troop is practically isolated from all other units in camp, which permits each troop to live to themselves and operate their own troop program, under their own troop leadership.

Besides the troop camping at Camp Lazarus there will be four tours taken to the World's Fair on the following dates: June 18-24 inclusive; June 24-30 inclusive; August 14-20 inclusive, and August 20-26 inclusive.

For information on tours contact D. M. Reed, field director of the Central Ohio Area council and for information in regard to troop camping at Camp Lazarus see K. A. Connelly, Chief Camp Counselor of the Camp. Many troops have made arrangements to attend Camp Lazarus to date.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 15, 1933

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

THE CIGARETTE THAT'S Milder

"Your new Spring hat, Mein Herr!"

THE CHALLENGE OF LOVE

by WARWICK DEEPIING

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

"I am not afraid of roughing it."
"No man ought to be. Now, Jess—well, we've no cause to bring in Jess."

Wolfe looked straight at Mrs. Mascall.

"To be honest, that's what I came up here for."

"Did you now?"

"It is about Jess. It must be about Jess. You will let me say what I want to say?"

"I expect I should have to hear it, if I wanted to or not."

Wolfe's nervousness showed itself in a kind of tenseness, a brightening of the eyes, a lowering of the voice. It was not easy for him to say what he had to say, and his own sincerity kept nudging and prompting him at every turn.

A curious and half-boyish diffidence made him seem ten years younger. He began sentences, altered them, dropped them, and started afresh.

There was a certain fierce naiveté about him that made Mrs. Mascall glance at him with a flash of affection from under half-closed lids.

Mary Mascall's face had warmed towards him.

"Isn't easy to say some things."

"Not when one's in grim earnest."

"Come round here, lad, and kiss me."

Wolfe went and kissed her. His spirits seemed to rise up fresh and buoyant, like a swimmer who clings up out of the sea after a plunge on a summer morning.

"You are just the man, John, I should want for the girl."

"But she mustn't know, not a word. It wouldn't be fair. You see what I mean. I don't know what is going to happen here. I may be out on the world in ten days. But I'll work through. I'll smash things if they get in my way. I only want you to trust me."

"I'll do that."

"And I might write once a month, just like a brother. If I'm not too far off I could run down here now and again when I can get a day or two. I want her to be free, free all round. I don't want her to think anything, to have anything pushed under her eyes. When I am the man I mean to be, things will be different."

Mary Mascall looked up at him with wet, bright eyes.

"You make me cry, lad, you do, sure!"

"But you don't mean that I must not."

"You great goose, you, as if I wouldn't let my conscience to every word you've said!"

Under one of the great cedar trees at "Parsons," a man dressed in a light summer suit lay very much at his ease upon a cane "reclining" chair. He had a little green garden-stool at his right elbow, ready with books and papers, a whisky-decanter, soda-water, and glasses. The laughs of the cedar let golden bars of sunshine through upon the grass, though the method shade seemed carefully suited to the cool serenity of the man who regarded comfort as a thing necessary to existence. The perfect laws of "Parsons" unfolded themselves to right and left, while the man's feet pointed towards the terraced borders and the red-brick walls and grey-stone window frames and additions of the Tudor house.

The air was absolutely still, and the smoke from the man's cigar floated upwards in blue, wavering lines. Sometimes he closed his eyes like a contemplative Buddha, whom no earthly happenings could disturb. The occasional burr of a bow-string and the faint thud of an arrow striking a target did not so much as persuade him to turn his head. A cynic had said of Percival Hardness that had the Last Trump sounded he would have turned his head half an inch to one side, and requested a waiter "to tell that fellow Gabriel not to make such a damned noise." A remarkably self-satisfied man, sleek, particular, and infatigable, he had a way of bidding the world withdraw itself to a distance, and await his pleasure. Put him upon his feet, and he was tall and aristocratic, with a peculiarly cocky tilt to his nose and head, and a kind of superior amusement in his hard, blue eyes.

For twenty minutes a woman in a white dress and a big yellow straw hat had been shooting arrows down a miniature glade between broad grass slopes and the towering stateliness of the cedars. When she had exhausted her arrows she would stroll with an absolutely uninterested expression towards the target, count her score, gather her arrows, and stroll back again to her place. Sometimes she glanced at the man in the chair. She had a fine figure, and showed it to advantage when bending a bow. Moreover, she shot well, very few of her arrows straying from the target.

"What energy you have! Besides, I should make no show against you."

"But you would be impressed by my shooting. Other people like to make a little display!"

"I am quite ready to lie here and clap. Besides, to watch you I should have to get up and turn this chair round. What is the score, five bulls, six in the gold, and so on?"

She turned, and slowly and shot an arrow. It struck the edge of the target, and glanced upwards into the boughs of a cedar.

"That was a miss."

"Oh, shame!"

"You never do anything, do you, unless it strikes you that the act is exquisite."

"A man should never permit himself to do anything badly. He should live above criticism. Only barbarians run races, and that kind of thing."

Mrs. Ursula Brandon fitted another arrow to her string.

"I have an idea, Percival, that I should like to put you down there in place of the target."

"My dear Diana!"

"Would you play William Tell? No, you would run away, you know. I wonder how a man manages to run away—gracefully."

"Only fools get themselves into such a predicament."

"Then either you would not be there, or you would be shot?"

"Most probably I should not be there. If there I should manage to be shot impressively."

"I believe you would."

"Like the gentlemen at Fontenoy."

He shifted his position slightly, and stared over the tops of the boots at the sunflowers, hollyhocks, and tall daisies in the terraced borders.

ITALIAN AIRMEN PREPARING FOR DANGEROUS OCEAN HOP

(Copyright, 1933, By International News Service.)

ORTELLO, Italy, May 17.—One hundred Italian airmen, who will participate early next month in the epoch-making seaplane flight from Italy to the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, went into almost monastic seclusion today.

For three weeks they will be closely confined to barracks at the great airport here, denied permission to receive women visitors, even their families.

General Balbo, air minister, who will command the flight, desires that all their thoughts shall be concentrated on the impending hop across the Atlantic. Hence their preparation will be spiritual as well as technical.

STUDY PROBLEMS

From now on every minute of the day will be devoted to scheduled lessons and trial flights over Lake Orbetello or conferences on the problems to be encountered on a route that will carry this great air armada as far north as Labrador before it comes to rest on Lake Michigan.

The training will be done on seaplanes practically of identical design with those to be used on the actual flight but these planes will not be turned over to the pilots until nearly the moment of the hop-off so as to be in the best possible condition after tests by official experts under the full responsibility of the manufacturers.

Along the sea route across the north Atlantic several British trawlers have been chartered by the Italian government to be spread out at intervals to render aid to any seaplane that is in distress. Each trawler will carry three Italian air force officers to act as navigators, meteorologists and radio operators.

Several submarines will also cooperate, watching the route and minimizing the risk of accident.

The trawlers and submarines which are to be posted nearest the American side have already sailed to take up their posts.

MAY NOT STOP

If all goes well the 24 seaplanes making the flight will hop directly from Iceland to Labrador without a stop at Greenland. Italian mechanics are already in Iceland picking sheltered fjords where the planes may be brought down.

Value of Spinal Puncture In Recognizing Diseases

This Method of Diagnosis Is Now Painless and Often the Sure Way of Determining Certain Ills in Their Early Stages

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

MANY PERSONS misunderstand what is meant by "spinal puncture" and are alarmed if it is suggested. There is a popular idea that it is dangerous to have a spinal puncture. But when the procedure and its purpose are explained, they forget their fears.

Spinal puncture is used to aid in the recognition of certain diseases. In some instances it is curative, bringing relief from pain and suffering.

It is a simple thing to do. The needle is inserted into the spinal canal, which is surrounded by more or less fluid.

Spinal puncture is the tapping of the spinal membranes for the purpose of obtaining some of this fluid.

A small amount of fluid is examined under a microscope and subjected to various tests.

Painless Now

Examination of the spinal fluid is of great value in diagnosing certain disorders. In doubtful cases it may be the only means of actually determining whether or not a patient is suffering from tumor of the brain, tuberculosis of the brain, various forms of spinal meningitis, fractured skull and other disorders.

Fortunately, it is now possible to perform a spinal puncture without pain and discomfort to the patient.

It can recall the days when spinal puncture was an uncomfortable procedure. Today, by the aid of local anesthesia, little, if any, discomfort is experienced. The patient may feel the slight pin-prick of the hypodermic needle and perhaps a mild feeling of jar.

Spinal puncture may be performed in the home or at the hospital. It is preferably done at the hospital where all the facilities for the various tests are available.

Harmless, Too

You will recall that during the recent infantile paralysis epidemic it was advised that all suspected cases of paralysis be submitted to the spinal puncture. It was the only sure means of recognizing the disease in its early stages. The number of children who were subjected to this procedure was great. There were no mishaps or bad effects.

It is the universal testimony of friends of mine in the profession, men who have made hundreds of these punctures, that no harm results. One famous doctor wrote me as follows: "We have never had any bad results from our spinal punctures and are anxious to extend the benefits of this diagnostic procedure to all in whom it is plainly indicated."

No one will deny that the success of modern medicine is due to the increasing and accurate knowledge of the causes of disease. It is when the cause is not known that the outlook is unfavorable. The use of the laboratory tests, such as the blood count, the Wassermann test, spinal puncture and the X-ray examination, enables the modern physician to detect and prevent diseases that would prove fatal if unrecognized.

If your physician advises a spinal puncture do not hesitate to take advantage of this modern method of diagnosis. Do not fear the test and above all else, forget the false stories that have been circulated about it. It is not as disagreeable as having a tooth extracted and certainly is no more dangerous.

SOCIETY

A. R. HEARS REPORTS OF NATIONAL CONGRESS

The meeting of Pickaway Plains chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Glenn Nickerson, S. Court-st., was one of the most enjoyable sessions of the year.

Reports of Mrs. Nickerson and Miss Clara Littleton, delegates to the forty-second Continental Congress recently held in Washington, D. C., were heard at this time. More than 3,000 delegates were in attendance at the Congress.

The Circleville delegates reported that the addresses of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, recently appointed Minister to Denmark, and Mrs. Amelia Earhart, Fulman's description of her recent solo flight across the Atlantic, were the outstanding points of the convention.

Mrs. Nickerson and Miss Littleton attended the Easter services at the Cathedral in Washington at which the Roosevelts were committal, and were also present at a reception at the White House given by Mrs. Roosevelt.

Mrs. George Hamman Jr., of Williamsport, read an interesting paper on Simon Girty, who was captured by the Seneca Indians when a child and held captive for years. When he was freed, he became a scout. He acted as interpreter at the time that Logan, the Mingo Chief, made his famous speech to John Gibson. Girty later became a renegade and was a most inhuman villain whose name was a terror to the settlers.

After the meeting, refreshments were served in the dining room with Miss Charlotte Caldwell and Miss Clara Littleton presiding.

The June session will be the annual Guest Day and will be held at Mrs. Hunsicker's tea room. Luncheon will be served and members are permitted to bring guests who are members of other D. A. R. chapters. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Harry Heffner.

IOGAN ELM GRANGE HAS INITIATION

At the regular meeting of the Logan Elm Grange held Tuesday evening in the auditorium at Pickaway-twp school, Washington Grange was in charge of the initiation work. The third and fourth degrees were conferred on a class of candidates including Mr. and Mrs. Dorah Morris, Virginia and Margaret Morris, Loring Hill and Donald Whittle, of Kingston, E. C. Carpenter, Ray Beery and Mrs. Ellen Heggle.

A social hour followed the degree work during which a buffet luncheon was served to 130 members and guests.

DAUGHTERS OF 1812 HAYZ CONFERENCE

The state conference of the Daughters of 1812 is being held in Columbus Wednesday and Thursday with headquarters at the Broad-Lincoln hotel.

The opening event of the annual conference was held this afternoon at the courthouse in Chillicothe, when Mrs. Charles M. Maine, of Greenfield, president of the General Duncanson McArthur chapter, presented to the Ross-co commissioners the tablet honoring the pioneers of Chillicothe, which was dedicated by the Daughters. The tablet was placed on the front wall of Chillicothe's historic courthouse, on the site where the first state constitution of Ohio was framed and adopted and Ohio's first governor installed.

A simple and impressive program was carried out. Albert Mader, bugler, sounded assembly taps; Boy Scouts and Girl Reserves formed an escort of honor for the flag; the band and glee clubs of the Chillicothe high school furnished music; Mayor Gunning and Walter Tinker, president of the commissioners of Ross-co, participated and C. B. Galbreath of the Ohio historical society made an address on early Ohio state history.

A dinner at 7 o'clock was to follow the ceremonies at the home of Mrs. A. W. Geissinger, Columbus state president.

Thursday, breakfast will be at 8:30 at the Broad-Lincoln followed by an open conference at 9:45 in the ballroom. Luncheon will be at one o'clock.

PRESENT SENIOR CLASS PLAY ON WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Wednesday morning the cast gave a preview of "The King Rides By" in chapel. For the first time the "king" was presented. His identity was hidden in the folds of the very large robe which he wore.

He spoke just long enough to tell us who he was, then the curtain was drawn so that the mystery would not be completely solved before the presentations of the play.

The question "Who is the king?" is on everyone's lips. What does he look like? His statures, w is revealed by his actions, but his appearance is known to no one. The only way to answer this question is to come and see for yourself the senior class play, "The King Rides By" at the high school auditorium May 18 and 19 at 8 p. m.

The other members of the cast include: Edmund Dorset, William Heggle, Simmons, John Mason; Loranda, Gene Rader; Cecily Dorset, Mabel Rummel; Captain Winchell, Paul Wallace; Deborah Winchell, Sara May; Hal Stanley, Howard Ater; Baroness, Charlotte Caskey; Valeria Dorset, Theda Bousper; Cash McCord, John Styers; Stuffy, Martin Hickey; and Kate Wells, Katherine Foresman.

Needle History

The earliest needles had no holes in them, and were undoubtedly used more as pins or awls, to make holes through which the long underground roots of plants or birdweed and leather thongs were passed by hand to serve the purpose of thread. These earliest needles were made of stone, bone or ivory. When the advantage of piercing a hole through the blunt end of these implements was discovered, the first real needle was made. During the Bronze age of history, metal needles came into being and further civilization gradually has resulted in the development of over 250 varieties of needles for sewing alone.
